

CONTENTS

Contributors	xi
Biographies	xv
Preface	xxvii

1. CEBIS: Collaborating With Clinicians to Inform Evidence-Based Practice 1

Amber Dunlop, Anna Brown

Introduction	1
Development of Clinical Evidence Based Information Service	2
Case Studies	5
Challenges	8
Successes	11
Collecting Examples of Impact	13
Demand for and Investment in the Service	13
Conclusion	15
References	15

2. Collaboration is Key: Advancing the Academic Health Sciences Library's Mission Through Campus Partnerships Within Library Spaces 17

Janice M. Jaguszewski, Lisa A. McGuire

Introduction	17
Literature Review	18
Seven Strategies for Successful Partnerships in the Bio-Medical and Wangensteen Libraries	20
Impact and Conclusion	28
Acknowledgments	29
References	29

3. Collaborating to Connect the Underserved With Patient Portals	31
Stephen Kiyoi, Courtney Lyles, Shobha Sadasivaiah
Introduction	31
The Setting	31
The Opportunity	32
The Challenges	33
The Team	34
Inpatient Engagement	35
Outpatient Engagement	38
Research Models	39
Benefits of Collaboration	41
Next Steps	43
Conclusion and Lessons Learned	44
References	44
4. Finding the Way Without a Road MAP: Cultivating a UK-Wide Community of Practice	47
Tracey Pratchett, Victoria Treadway
Introduction	47
Background to the NHS	47
Libraries in the NHS	48
Origins of the MAP CoP	49
The Evolution of the MAP CoP	50
The MAP Toolkit	52
Why Are Communities of Practice Important to Librarians?	56
Impact of Being Involved in the MAP Community	57
Impact of the Community on the Wider Library Community	58
The Challenges	60
Conclusions	61
References	62

5. Open Collaboration: How Separate Library Systems Harmonized Their Support for Open Access Scholarship	65
Denise A. Smith, Olga Perkovic, Gabriela Mircea
Introduction	65
Background	66
Direction	67
OAWG Composition and Roles	67
Timeline	68
Outcomes	69
Usage and Feedback	73
Discussion	74
Conclusion	76
References	77
6. Bringing the Evidence to the Table: Librarians Partner With Performance Improvement for High-Quality, Safe, and Cost-Effective Patient Care	79
Megan von Isenburg, Jamie Conklin, Leila Ledbetter, Beverly Murphy, Megan Van Noord
Introduction: The Changing Environment of Health Care	79
Literature Review	79
Care Redesign at Duke	81
Librarian Role in Care Redesign	82
Impact of Care Redesign	84
Impact of Librarians' Contributions	84
Impact on Librarians and the Library	87
Tips for Creating Partnerships	88
Conclusion	91
References	92

7. Successful Collaborations at the Local and National Level Build Teenagers' Skills to Advocate for Improved Health: Project SHARE	95
Alexa Mayo, M.J. Tooley
Background	95
Institutional Foundation for Collaboration	96
A Team Envisions the Project	99
Project SHARE Years One and Two	99
Curriculum Design	101
National Area Health Education Center Organization Health Information Literacy Project	104
HS/HSL Listens	104
Next Steps	105
Summary	106
References	106
8. Strengthening Strategic Planning Through Diverse Collaborations	109
M.J. Tooley, Aphrodite Bodycomb, Patricia G. Hinegardner, Alexa Mayo, J. Dale Prince
Background	109
Issues and Drivers for HS/HSL Strategic Planning	110
The Meaning of Collaboration for the HS/HSL Strategic Planning	110
The Process	111
The Only Constant Is Change	117
Discussion	118
Future Improvement	119
Conclusion	121
Appendix: Questions	121
References	123

9. e-channel: A Platform for Disseminating the Scholarly Output of Innovators	125
Jean P. Shipman, Christy Jarvis
Background	125
Platform Collaboration	126
Content Collaborations—Local Partnerships	128
Content Collaborations: National Partnership—VentureWell	133
Content Collaborations: International Partnerships	133
Lessons Learned	134
Future Collaborations	136
Summary	136
References	137
10. It Takes a Village: Operating an App Bar Within a Hospital	139
Erica Lake, John Christian Tueller Bramble, Heidi Greenberg, Jean P. Shipman, Robin L. Marcus, Chris Lyle Wasden, Kyle Bradford Jones
Background	139
Creation of the U-Bar	142
Conclusions	146
Role of Health Sciences Librarians	150
Why Librarians?	152
References	152
Index	155